Norwegian-Russian Scholarship Scheme 2017-18

Introduction

This announcement of scholarships is based on the Agreement between the Norwegian Ministry of Education and Research and the Russian Ministry of Education and Science, dated 27th April 2010.

Norwegian scholarship schemes are normally closely tied to institutional collaboration, preferably with strong linkage between cooperation in research and education. Since the Ministry of Education and Research cannot instruct the institutions to accept a candidate within a specific field, this scheme is based on pre-agreements with defined institutions. The institutions retain their right not to accept a specific candidate.

The total amount of available student grants annually is 30, 15 within Norwegian language and literature, 15 within other subjects. The grants can be awarded to students and academic staff at Russian institutions of higher education. Admission of a student for a two-year programme implies that the student is counted as grant recipient for two years, reducing the number of available grants the following year.

As acceptance of individual students cannot be guaranteed, it is suggested that the Russian Ministry of Education and Science recommends at least 20 students for language studies and 20 students for other studies, from which the grant recipients can be selected.

Grants are offered at the following institutions:

- Oslo and Akershus University College of Applied Sciences
- UiT The Arctic University of Norway (merged with Narvik University College)
- University of Bergen
- Nord University (previously University of Nordland)
- University of Oslo
- Norwegian University of Science and Technology

Norwegian language and literature (Article 3)

The Kingdom of Norway will offer up to 15 grants annually. Depending on the number of qualified applicants, some flexibility can be shown in the distribution of language student grants, within the total of 15. The grants can also be awarded to lecturers of Norwegian language and literature at Russian institutions of higher education.

University of Bergen

For courses in Norwegian language and Norwegian literature, please find more information about courses and requirements under the “General study grant (Article 2)”.

Application

All applications are written on a special form developed for the scholarship scheme. Applications not made on this form, will not be considered. The application deadline, as well as contact information, will be announced by the Ministry of Education and Science of the Russian Federation.

Eligibility

Only students who are currently enrolled at a regular university study programme or academic staff/teachers at universities or similar institutions are eligible for grants to summer courses. Other grants are available to applicants who fulfil the announced language and educational requirements.

What does the grant cover?

The students will not pay study fees (except a semester fee of approximately NOK 600 per semester). The students will receive a monthly grant equivalent to the rate for Norwegian students at the Norwegian State Educational Loan Fund (“Lånekassen”). As per January 2017, this is NOK 10 395 per month.

Travel costs are not covered (ref. Article 6 in the agreement).

The students will normally be offered student accommodation, for which they pay the rent out of their grant (usually NOK 2 500 – 4 500 monthly).

For summer school participants there are special rates, where accommodation, meals, book support and pocket money is included.
